PROFILE

As a Quality Analyst with 3+ years of experience in customer service, data analysis, auditing, and policy making, I bring a strong understanding of data science and technology-driven solutions to implement impactful programs at scale. My passion for leveraging data science to drive meaningful policies has been demonstrated through various successful data science projects, which I have developed and deployed as a certified programmer.

At Amazon, I have leveraged my expertise in data analysis and technology to inform and advance the company's goals and growth, while continuously expanding my own skills and knowledge in the field. I am eager to continue leveraging my skills and experience to drive impact and drive success.
